Kim Moyers joined Chandler's Economic Development division in April 2014 as the Downtown Redevelopment Manager. This position is responsible for attracting new business to the City and assisting existing business expansion. Downtown Chandler has seen significant redevelopment in the last 10 years and Moyers will work closely with many local stakeholders on upcoming projects coming to the downtown.

Prior to joining Chandler, Moyers worked for the neighboring town of Queen Creek. In this role, she managed the Queen Creek Incubator, assisted with several Capital Improvement Projects and spearheaded a Town Center Committee to improve local employment. Before joining Queen Creek, Moyers was an Executive Director for the Downtown Association for Kokomo, Indiana. In this role, Moyers worked with City and Council officials on various economic development projects including grant writing, utility issues and a citywide strategic plan.

Moyers holds a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Indiana University. She is also a graduate of the University of Oklahoma Economic Development Institute and holds a Rutgers Certificate in Business District Management.
